DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For President.
 WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN,
 of Nebraska.

For Vice President.
 ADAM E. STEPHENSON, of Illinois.

For Governor.
 J. C. W. BECKHAM,

For Congress.
 HON. J. BANFORD WHITE,
 of Irvine.

For Circuit Court Clerk.
 R. F. WATT

MORE FAVORABLE.

Among the Gold Democratic Committee men Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, Michigan and Wisconsin were opposed to a third ticket. These states practically won for the Republicans in 1896, and it follows with this party off and voting for the Democratic ticket it would give additional assurance that the Democrats are together and that they will support the regular nominees. It appears there will be a land-slide, and that Mark Hanna, McKinley and all of the kind will be covered from the sight of men.

MORE POPULAR.

From what we can gather from all sources Bryan is more popular than ever before, and what he stands for is approved by the common people of which he is one. Go where you may and things are this way. The other barrel Hanna is filling will not be sufficient to change the tide. It is a warm coming that will sweep the whole country.

THE OLD MAN.

Old Brother Simon Bolivar Buckner wants no more third party in his, for he has enough of it. Had he seen things this way four years ago it may be Bryan would have been President, the money question would have been settled and the boys every where would have had plenty of money and Uncle Sam would not have had so much debt.

WHAT THINK YE OF YOUR BIRD NOW?

If Gov. Mount has been reading the evidence against the man he is shielding, given out by brother of like political faith, and the (Mount) has any sense of right and justice, wonder what he thinks of his pet fugitive now?

GUILTY.

An honest Republican, one who believes in right, was heard to say that he believed Powers was guilty, as charged. Well if he is and he should be convicted, he has no one to blame but himself and his party. The evidence before the court is by his own people in whom he had confided.

Mr. James Banford White, of Estill county, is the Democratic nominee for Congress in this district. We are satisfied he is most acceptable of the number offering for this position. He has made no enemies in his fight for the nomination, and therefore there are no Democrats to fail in doing their duty. Every Democrat is for Banford White, for he is a veritable Democrat.

CALEB POWERS.

The Caleb Powers trial for being accessory to the murder of Gov. Goebel, continues with much interest. If there was nothing more to be said of this case than where the prosecution rests, Mr. Powers, without a doubt, is guilty as charged. We do hope Powers is an innocent man, and that he will be able to show to the people that he had no part in the murder. We shall wait for the defense to offer its evidence.

Gov. Mount is reading the evidence in the Caleb Powers trial at Georgetown, and in regard to honoring a requisition asked by Gov. Beckham for the return of Taylor and Finley to Kentucky, says he is meditating, and is now open to conviction.

Ex-Speaker Reed talks of the situation knowingly. Notwithstanding, Mark has him in the soup.

Speaking.

W. T. Stafford, of Paintsville, Republican candidate for Congress in this district speaks here on Saturday afternoon.

Must Know Our Ministers are Alive.

The pledge McKinley demands before using the friendly offices of the Government are these:

1. To give public assurance whether the foreign ministers are alive, and if so, in what condition.
2. To put the diplomatic representatives of the powers in immediate and free communication with their respective governments, and to remove any danger to their lives and liberty.
3. To place the imperial authorities of China in communication with the relief expedition, so that cooperation may be secured between them for the liberation of the legations, the protection of foreigners and the restoration of order.

Hazel Green Academy.

The 15th Annual session of this popular school will begin on Tuesday, Sept. 11. Prof. Cord will be in charge with a full corps of teachers.

Besides the regular academic work there will be classes in the Ministerial and Business courses, and a Bible Institute will be taught by Prof. B. C. Deweese of Lexington, in November.

Hon. W. O. Mize, one of the founders of the academy, will present two elegant gold watches in June 1901, to the young man and woman who make the best records as pupils during the session. Mr. Mize has also set apart $500, the income of which is to be used from year to year, as a gift to the young man or woman who makes the best record as a pupil. This is to be known as "The W. O. Mize gift" to Hazel Green Academy.

This school has been a power for good in a large section of Eastern Kentucky.

Straight from the Shoulder.

It seems the Mayor and Council of the city of Atlanta had become so indignant that it became necessary that the word of God, with its teachings should be applied, and it fell to the lot of the Rev. Len C. Broughton to do the artistic. Here is the text and a sample paragraph: Isaiah 58: 1. "Cry aloud and spare not. Lift up thy voice like a trumpet and show my people their transgressions."

Sept. 1st Mrs. Joe Jepson will remove from Thompson Station to the city and occupy the Episcopal parsonage, where she will resume teaching music. All persons desiring instruction in this line are requested to see Mrs. Jepson before making arrangements.

MYSTERY OF THE PYRAMIDS.

Discredited Egyptologist Publishes a Rather Reasonable Case.

For centuries Egyptologists and archaeologists have been trying to find out the exact significance of the great pyramids of Egypt. Now at last the problem seems to be solved. This statement is especially true in regard to the pyramid of Gizeh, otherwise known as the Cheops or Chufu pyramid. Hitherto it has been supposed that this immense structure was designed as the mausoleum of its royal founder, but ample evidence is now forthcoming that it was primarily designed to serve as a temple in which candidates for initiation into the higher mysteries of the Egyptians might perform the requisite rights.

Many years ago the question was asked: If the pyramid of Gizeh is merely a royal mausoleum, why does it contain so many stately halls, corridors, and why was a secret chamber constructed under ground since the upper chambers would have sufficed as a vault for the remains of the great king? On the other hand, if it was ever anything else than a burial place, why is an immense granite sarcophagus the most conspicuous object in it? There is an Arabian tradition that the pyramids were built before the flood in order that the intellectual treasures of Egypt might be preserved in them, and during recent years more than one scientist has expressed, though somewhat guardedly, the opinion that the secret chambers might have been used for purposes of initiation.

A key to this entire mystery has now been found in that wonderful work, "The Book of the Dead," which Richard Lepsius, a distinguished German Egyptologist, discovered some years ago in the tomb of a priest named Auf Aukh, the original papyrus of which is now preserved in Turin. Scholars who examined it soon after it was discovered said that it was an exposition, more or less fantastic, of the life led by Egyptians after death. The god Thoth was believed to be the author, and, according to others, the book tells us much about the God idea of the Egyptians, as well as about their dogmas, their interpretations, their mythology, their morals and their faith in immortality. A copy of the work is said to have been placed in the graves of the dead, and portions of it were inscribed on many tombs, with the object of pointing out to the dead the right road through the other world, and of keeping ever in their memory the "right word," which alone could serve them as a weapon against the hostile demons who would ever strive to hinder them from attaining happiness.

A recent and more thorough examination of this book, however, shows that it is far more than "a strange collection of religious and magical texts," or that a mere exposition of the views of Egyptians in regard to a future life, and that Lepsius erred somewhat in entitling it "The Book of the Dead." Instead of being a book of instruction for the dead, it is, we are told, an authoritative text book for those who intended to belittle into the higher mysteries of the Egyptians.

That the pyramid of Gizeh was used for the purpose of initiating candidates in this manner is very evident to those who have studied "The Book of the Dead" under the new light that has been thrown on it.—N. Y. Herald.

In Loving Remembrance of Our Mother.

After a lingering illness of more than three years, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Jones passed quietly and calmly from this life July 23, 1900. She was born Oct. 27, 1840. Was married to Henry L. Jones Sept. 3, 1857. There were six children to bless this union: C. H., E. B., O. M., Misses Clemie, Emma and Nancey Jones. Very early in life she professed her faith in her Saviour and since then has been a devoted member of the Methodist church. She was a devoted wife, kind, loving mother and grandmother, a true friend. To know her was but to love her. She was noted for her generosity and hospitality. Her charity knew no bounds. There was always a smile and kind word for those with whom she came in contact. Forgetful of self yet always solicitous of those around her, inquiring in her last hours of the comfort of those who watched by her bedside. She professed her willingness to meet her God. The only regret was the separation from loved ones. As she expressed it "It's the Lord's will, I am ready and willing to go." Blessed are those who die in the Lord.

Just as she was in his splendor
 Entered in upon a new day
 Death came and raised her heart asunder.
 He took the spirit of our mother away.
 Within the portals of our home
 Her soul and body were reposing,
 But the comforting voice of Jesus' love
 Bid our souls to cease weeping.
 There her beloved form was lying
 Beyond the spirit of our love,
 She is asleep; we can not call it dying,
 Only gone to her home above.
 She has passed beyond the river
 To her home beyond the sky.
 To dwell with Jesus forever.
 As the countless moments fly,
 Husband and children will strive to join you
 On the bright celestial shore,
 The loving spirit be home as Upward and upward forevermore.
 A. C. C.

A Midnight Fire.

About midnight of Monday the alarm called the people to the N. E. part of town, where the home of Wm. Combs was burning. The fire originated in the kitchen. The building, a one story 4 room frame, was completely destroyed. The family escaped but lost practically everything, saving an organ, parts of two beds and a few other articles. The house and contents were insured for $700, not enough to equal the loss. A cheap stable on an adjoining lot was also burned. The fire company responded promptly.

On last Wednesday J. Will Clay, of this city, sold to J. T. Lombard, of Hastings, Mich., a half interest in 463 3/4 acres of timber land. A narrow gauge road about five miles long will connect the land with the L. & E. railroad.

Mills will be erected and a store run in connection with it. Mat C. Clay & J. D. Murdoch will be in charge of the mills and railroad. We do not know Mr. Murdoch, but he is such an active, enterprising and efficient associate as Mat Clay he will succeed. Mr. S. B. Lane will look after the store. We wish them success. They hope to have the road in operation by Feb. 1st.

FAILURE OF MONSOONS.

In the Chief Cause of Famine in Populous India.

India is a country not half so large as the United States, with four times its population. These 300,000,000 people must be fed from their own crops, as there is, relatively, no manufacturing resource to buy food with, says the Review of Reviews. There are parts of India with a population of 1,000 people to the square mile and there are millions upon millions of farm laborers, vagrants, gypsies and nondescript classes whose means of living, even in times of plenty, are precarious.

In a normal year the country, as a whole, produces a little more food than is actually necessary to support its people. But the crops are dependent on the monsoons—the southwest monsoon in the beginning of summer, and the northeast monsoon in the winter. If these periodic rains are late, or are insufficient in quantity, trouble comes, and the spring and winter crops of wheat, barley and pulses in the north, and of rice and millets in the south, begin to suffer.

When the monsoons fail absolutely there is destitution in the affected district, and when a persistent succession of failures and partial failures occurs there comes a great and terrible famine, like that the country is now groaning under. Since the first great famine of which there are records devastated the land in 1770, when 10,000,000 perished in Bengal alone, India has scarcely passed a decade free from scarcity of grain in one district or another.

The British government expects a drought about twice in every nine years, and a great famine like the present about twice in a century.

Beech Railway Tie.

Experiments are being made in Germany with beech as a material for railway sleepers. It has been found that without preservative treatment such sleepers are apt to rot internally though they may be apparently sound on the exterior. On the Alsace-Lorraine lines, favorable results have been obtained with creosoted beech sleepers, which have shown an average life of 19½ years, while others preserved with zinc chloride have proved still more satisfactory, their life being 21½ years.

If You Go to Samoa.

The Deutsche Kolonialblatt declares that settlers have poor prospects of success in Samoa unless they have at their disposal at least $3,500.

Killing in Bath.

Mr. John D. Berry, of Bath county, on last Friday shot and killed Pearl Scott of color. The woman was his cook and the evidence before the examining court is in substance this: Berry who had been in delicate health for some time and whose mind was at times unbalanced was of the opinion his cook was interfering with the milking of some cows and called her attention to it and said if it was repeated he would use his cane on her and at this statement the woman laughed, which so enraged Berry that he entered his house secured a double barrel shot gun and blew the woman's head off. He was tried before Judge Daucherty at Owingsville, on Saturday, adjudged insane and sent to the Lexington asylum.

Mounting Photographic Prints.

One of the greatest difficulties in mounting photographic prints is to prevent them from curving when dry; as this is due to the contraction of the print after having been distended by the water, a paste must be used containing as little water as possible. The following formula is recommended: Common Gelsoline, two parts; water, four parts; alcohol, eight parts. The alcohol is added slowly as soon as the gelatine is well dissolved in the water, and the vessel turned continually to obtain a homogeneous mixture. The solution must be kept hot during the operation, and should be applied quickly, as it soon dries; the print must be placed exactly the first time, as it adheres at once. The solution keeps for a long time in well corked bottles; when used it is heated on a waterbath—Scientific American.

At day-break George was vomiting with a rebellious stomach and a policeman had him in custody.

IT IS A PITY SO FEW WOMEN

Are Entirely Free From Pelvic Catarrh.

Miss Anna Carson, Clayton, Ill., says: "My Pelvic Catarrh did me so much harm that I believe I should have been dead by this time had I not used Dr. Pierce's medicine. I am feeling so well now. I have not taken any medicine for four or five months. I can cheerfully recommend Pelvic Catarrh to my friends."

Mrs. Henry Ellis, 501 Scott street, Milwaukee, Wis., says: "I was a most miserable sufferer from falling of the womb, weak ovaries, and leucorrhoea, which caused me to be confined to my bed for a long time, being too weak to bear my own weight even, upon my feet. I was treated by the most reputable physicians in our city. They could do nothing for me. I am most happy to say that in three months after I began taking Dr. Pierce's medicine I was well—entirely cured without any appliances or support of any kind."

G. A. Froehel, New Portage, O., writes: "My wife has been sick for almost five years. In the first place the doctor called it leucorrhoea, and treated it that way, when it turned out to be a case of Pelvic Catarrh. She was then treated for that for two years, when the doctor gave her up. She could not walk for nearly two years. He then tried using Dr. Pierce's medicine. She has taken three bottles and it did her more good than any other medicine."

A vast multitude of women have found Pelvic Catarrh an indispensable remedy. It cures all their irregularities, critical periods, and peculiar weaknesses. Mrs. Anne Randall, Caro, Mich., says: "This letter leaves me well. I do sincerely thank you for your good advice and great medicine, Dr. Pierce. It has brought back my health to me in my old days. I am now a new woman, physically. I think Dr. Pierce's medicine is the best in the market."

Women are even more subject to catarrh than men. The chief cause is the delicacy of her organism, as compared to man. This explains why, in part at least, so few women are entirely free from catarrh. Catarrh of the pelvis or uterus is generally called female disease.

Miss Sadie Martindale, the prominent young actress, writes to Dr. Hartman in regard to Pelvic Catarrh, as follows: "I give you my great pleasure in recommending Dr. Pierce's medicine to my profession. I have found it most helpful. I consider Pelvic Catarrh a special benefit to women and particularly recommend it to my friends. My dressing table is never without it."

Everywhere the people, especially the women, are praising Dr. Pierce's medicine for all forms of catarrhal difficulties. Send for free catarrh book. Address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, O.

QUEER OLD FICTION.

A Woman Who Was on Friendly Terms with the Fairies.

There is a curious story, which anyone may read for himself, who happens to possess a volume, containing a good many curious things, called "Phoenix Britannicus." It is the story of a woman who was gifted with the power of seeing fairies, and was herself favored with the friendship of this elusive race. The woman was born and lived for more than 70 years in Cornwall, near Bodmin. She adorned the seventeenth century, and this account of her was written in her own lifetime.

When she was about 17 she was placed as a servant in the house of a respectable family of Bodmin. One day she was found lying unconscious in the garden. When she recovered she said that she had been visited by six little people dressed in green, a story which made thoughtful people serious, because, you see, little people dressed in green could be none other than fairies. After the attack she became religious, and was remarkable for remembering more of the sermon than anyone else in the family. Now, on one occasion, her mistress had an accident and broke her leg by a fall. The girl then showed the wonderful powers she possessed by telling her, on the information of the little people in green, her friends, how the accident had taken place and by completely and instantly healing the broken limb, only passing her hand over the fracture.

Such a thing cannot be hidden under a bushel; all the people round who were sick flocked to her, and she cured almost without taking any money. It was also observed that she took no food at the family table, but went into her own room, where the fairies brought her food, as was witnessed by many who looked through the keyhole. They saw the food, but they could not see the fairies. At this point the clergyman of the place interposed. It was evidently wicked to keep up these friendly relations with the fairies; she must desist. However, the little people in green gave her a Bible, with a page turned down to show the answer she must make. It was the apostolic injunction to try the spirits.

But the answer was not received in the spirit expected, and they lodged the girl in Bodmin jail. Here the fairies continued to visit her, bringing her the most delicious dinners and breakfasts you can possibly imagine, so that they were obliged to let her out. She would not return to her place, but the wretched home, and then she married. And after her marriage she refused to say a word about the fairies; not one single word would she say, and now we shall never know the full history of this romantic friendship—whether the girl terminated it of her own accord, or whether she sent on with her friends for the rest of her life—Chicago Daily News.

Too much Pork: Not Enough Fat. Without doubt the fat in pork is about as hard to digest as anything can be. A person has to have a strong digestion and must be engaged in hard work in order to take care of this food, although it is true a large number of persons depend upon it as a specialty through the cold weather. The fat is, however, but as a rule fat is largely deficient in our food; that is, a fat which can be easily digested and promptly assimilated by the system. ### THE NEW YORK WORLD.

THRICE-A-WEEK EDITION.

Almost A Daily—At the Price of a Weekly.

The most widely circulated "weekly" newspaper in America is the Thrice-A-Week edition of the New York World, and with the Presidential campaign now at hand you can not do without it. Here are some of the reasons why it is the leader in dollar a year journalism.

It is issued every other day, and is to all purposes a daily.

Every week each subscriber receives 18 "pages" and often during the "busy" season 24 pages each week.

The price is only $1.00 per year. It is virtually a daily at the price of a weekly.

Its news covers every known part of the world. No weekly newspaper could stand alone and furnish such service.

The Thrice-A-Week World has at its disposal all of the resources of the greatest newspaper in existence—the wonder of modern journalism—"America's Greatest Newspaper," as it has been justly termed—"The New York World."

Its political news is absolutely impartial. This fact will be of especial value in the Presidential campaign coming on.

The best of current fiction is found in its columns.

These are only some of the reasons; there are others. Res. 11 and see them all.

We offer this unequalled newspaper and "THE ADVOCATE" together one year for $1.65.

The regular subscription price of the two papers in $3. per year.

There are no better pills made than Dr. Williams' Little Early Risers. Always prompt and certain.

She can teach her lips to laugh in spite of pain, but the eyes will never be better in that deceit. Deep hollows, dark circles, wrinkles at the corners, tell of the story of pain and sleeplessness. Much of the nervousness, sleeplessness and suffering, indigestion, caused by women, is caused by a diseased condition of the womanly organs. When that diseased condition is cured there are no more hollow dark rings ever. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures irregularity, inflammation, indigestion, and all the ailments of the womanly organs. Beauty is born in the blood. Beauty is more than "skin deep," it is blood deep. When the blood is tainted by disease the flesh will feel it and the skin will show it. Sallow or muddy complexion, pimples, blotches and eruptions are only the surface signs of impure blood. Face washes, lotions, complexion powders, etc., palliate the evils but they cannot cure the disease. The only cure is to cleanse the blood of the poisonous matter which is the cause of the outbreak in the flesh and skin. Impure blood can be absolutely purified by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discoveries. It cures blood and skin is marked. Sallow and disappears. The skin becomes smooth, and regains its natural color. The eyes brighten and sparkle, and the whole body is radiant with the brightness and beauty of health. "Golden Medical Discoveries" contains no alcohol, whiskey or other intoxicant, and is absolutely safe from opium, cocaine and other narcotics. The use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, which is the action of the "Discoveries," by eliminating the system of clogging matter.

The People Wanted Him.

[Danville News.] Beckham is undoubtedly the nominee of the plain people, the price in the ranks of Democracy. With few exceptions all the politicians, the machine men, the men who manipulate and dominate conventions, were opposed to the nomination of Beckham. They tried by every means in their power to ruin the bid, but it was too late. The people wanted Beckham, and they were determined to have him, and the politicians, recognizing that their efforts were in vain, accepted the inevitable and bowed to the will of the people and made it unanimous.

George B. Hamlet, a Postoffice Inspector at Baltimore, has been charged with lording his railroad pass and badge and furnishing Government transportation to various persons. The charges have also developed the fact that when a resident of Louisiana Hamlet was known as a negro, whereas he now passes as a white man and has something of a figure in god society in Southern Maryland.

James P. Gregory, Judge of the Jefferson County Court, says that he would consider it a party duty to accept the Democratic nomination for Congress in this district should it be given him. He has no opposition, and will probably be the nominee.

ELEPHANT SATANIC ITCH.

This most aggravating and tormenting of all skin diseases is caused by an acid condition of the blood, and unless relieved through certain instrumentalities too much of this acid poison reaches the skin and it becomes red and inflamed. The itching and burning are almost unbearable, especially when overexposed from any cause. The skin seems on fire, sleep or rest is impossible, the desperate sufferer is sometimes in little doubt, discharging a sticky fluid, which forms crusts and scales. Again the skin is dry, hard and fissured, itching intensely, bleeds and scabs over. This is a painful and distressing form of the disease.

While Eczema, Tetter, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum and many like troubles are spoken of as diseases of the skin, they really bleed diseases, because

THERE CAN BE NO EXTERNAL IRRITATION WITHOUT AN INTERNAL CAUSE.

If the blood is in a pure, healthy condition, no poisonous elements can reach the skin. External applications of washes, lotions and salves sometimes mitigate the itching and soothe the inflammation, but cannot reach the cause. Only S. S. S., the real blood medicine, can do this. This burning, itching humor appears sometimes in little pustules, discharging a sticky fluid, which forms crusts and scales. Again the skin is dry, hard and fissured, itching intensely, bleeds and scabs over. This is a painful and distressing form of the disease. The disease is never cured, unless the blood is properly treated, and has never been in his return years ago but for S. S. S., and what he followed his advice and was cured.

Send for our book on Blood and Skin Diseases, and write our physicians fully about your case; they will cheerfully give any information or advice wanted. We make no charge for this. Address: S. S. S. Co., Atlanta, Ga.

Point out the Real Criminals

The organs of assassination are doing all they can to discredit the investigation going on at Georgetown. In fact, it has been a frequent subject of complaint that the Court of Appeals, like the alkali water mentioned by Mark Twain, is "too d-d technical," and that it is very hard to convict a man of murder in a way that will meet the approval of the Court of Appeals. Without enlarging upon this phase of the subject, it is sufficient to say that this trial is conducted subject to an appeal to a court that is very careful of human life, and that the defendant is not in jeopardy in consequence of any error in his prejudice in the Circuit Court, should any be made. The case is certain to go to the Court of Appeals, as prejudicing the life of the defendant, are mere claptrap and humbug.

The Assassination Organs Insist that Calvo Powers is not guilty.

They are not willing to concede that Taylor is guilty. In fact, they are not willing to concede that anybody is guilty, at least anybody that has been indicted. That Goebel was killed they cannot deny. That there was a conspiracy to kill him they have fully established that no reasonable man can entertain a doubt about it. The files of the organs of assassination afford the amplest evidence that they not only conspired, advised and urged the use of violence as a patriotic duty, but that they insisted that unless this was done the people of Kentucky would be disgraced in the eyes of the world—that they would be slaves to the despotic rule of a few law-breakers or robbers on earth. That the conspiracy was formed, that the rowdy who advised it kept out of it to the extent of seeing that nothing could be proved against them, is a part of the political history of the current year. But a part at least of the design was accomplished. Goebel was killed. The men who had planned this and other atrocities said they were sorry. Who believes them? Nobody with a brain that is capable of reasoning. One of the most eminent lawyers of Louisville, who calls himself a Democrat, when this matter was mentioned to him said: "What else could we do?" Being interpreted, this means how else can the Republicans in Kentucky carry the State except by assassination? To men of this stamp party success appears a necessity. If the courts do not give them what they want they will try bribery and assassination afterward.

Now, if these people are sincere in saying that they desire to see the real murderers of Goebel punished, why do they not get them arrested, put on trial and convicted? The matter is peculiarly and especially within their knowledge. They had control of the Executive building. They brought the mountain ruffians down. These men were at their beck and call. They would do anything that they were told to do by Taylor or his henchmen. That was the condition upon which they were recruited. It is in proof that one or two prominent Republicans were told that the object was to kill Goebel, and that they said: "This must not be done." Far, so good. But what steps did ### they take to prevent the consummation of the plan of which they had knowledge? What information did they give to the legal authorities to have these men put under bond to keep the peace? None whatever. They kept the conspiracy a profound secret till it was consummated.

The shot was fired from the Executive building. Taylor was there, and his word was supreme. He had means of knowing who was in the building and could easily have had reliable information as to where they were at the time of the killing. He shut out the civil authorities for three days. Instead of taking care that the law should be faithfully executed, he took care that they should not. In a time of profound peace he threw troops around the scene of the crime, and shut out the officers of the law. Taylor and his adherents must know or have reasonable grounds to believe who killed Goebel. Yet Taylor has never opened his mouth to impart any information on the subject. If the men indicted are the wrong crowd, why do not Taylor and others who know the facts come forward and say so? Beyond a doubt, somebody killed Goebel. If the men under indictment are not guilty, then who did kill him? Beyond doubt, a number of Republicans know. Why do they not tell? Let them point out the real criminals. If innocent men are prosecuted for the crime.—Courier-Journal.

Stingiest Man.

We have heard of stingy men, men that will steal hangers-on, and men beg a copper to make them a barrel around it free of charge; we have read of a milkman who would skim the milk on top, and then turn the bucket bottom upward and skim the milk at the bottom; of a man in Texas who had a wart on the back of his neck and was too stingy to buy a collar button, and used the wart for that purpose, but we are liberal-hearted men compared with those who will pick up every possible and impossible objection to a paper, and then go around and swipe their neighbor's paper and use it to boot. Subscribers who have paid their money and are bona-fide subscribers can help this enterprise a great deal by closing their free reading rooms. We appreciate sample copies here and there, but what we object to is the man who swipes our paper, and then commits petit larceny to get to read it.—Log Cabin News.

After many intricate experiments, chemists have discovered methods for obtaining all the natural digestives. These have been combined in the product found in the human body and united with substances that build up the digestive organs, making a compound called Kodol Dyppepsia Cure. It digests what you eat and allows all dyspepsias to eat plenty of nourishing food while the stomach troubles are being radically cured by the medical agent it contains. It is pleasant to take and will give quick relief.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constant failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proved catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surface of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

A mob took possession of the streets of New Orleans and made a search for the negro Charles who killed two policemen. They did not find him, but shot several negroes. The mob then marched to the parish prison to lynch the negro Pierce, who was Charles' accomplice. They were repulsed by the police. Street cars were then fired into, and several negroes and whites were injured.

Seasonable Suggestions.

The following from Printer's Ink was written by one of the greatest advertising experts in the country, and is advice that wise merchants will shrewdly follow:

Don't neglect your advertising because the weather is hot and people are leaving town. Remember that the trade of the day-after-tomorrow is well worth having, and that while it may be necessary to offer unusual inducements in order to get and keep their interest during the hot weather, it is much better to do so than to give an enterprising competitor the chance to wear some good customers away from you. Take some reasonable things on which you are overvalued, and the things that soon will be unobtainable, and print interesting stories about them. Quote prices that will force attention by their lowness, even if you have to lose a little now and then. It's a very warm day indeed when people won't respond to a genuine bargain offer if they have any confidence in the merchant who makes it. Don't make up your mind that it is going to be awfully dull between seasons just because it was so last year. Don't sit down and wait for your next busy season to open. Try a different plan this year. Advertise persistently and aggressively right through the hot weather, making frequent changes of copy, and not forgetting to quote prices that will tempt people to part with their money. That's a good way to keep them thinking of you and your store, to make a reputation for low prices, and to turn stocks over. If you have never tried it, try it now.

The National Committee of the Good Democrats, in session at Indianapolis, decided not to place a presidential ticket in the field this year. The committee also declined to fuse with the anti-imperialistic movement. Mr. W. B. Hallenman, of Louisville, a member of the National Executive Committee, withdrew from the meeting after making a speech in which he declared that the money question was not an issue. He announced that he would support Bryan, and asked that the money in the treasury be turned over to David R. Hill, of New York, to be used in the campaign as he saw fit.

→ Facts and Observations. ←

Enroute to and at The Democratic Congressional Convention
Held at Paintsville.

NOW FOR INCREASED DEMOCRATIC MAJORITY.

On Monday, 23rd, at 12:25 we left home for Paintsville. We had never attended a district or State political convention, so had a desire to "see the sights," record some facts and make some observations.

What contrasts we meet along life's pathway! Some enthusiastic, sincere and yet divergent. Some drink whisky, much whisky, others prefer water or lemonade; some use curse words, much curse words, others take not the name of the Lord in vain; some chew tobacco and spit on the car floor; others chew gum and spit out of the window. Enroute to Ashland we met a Democratic (?) preacher of the Christian Church who expects to vote for Mr. Yerkes, he met one who will vote for Mr. Beckham.

What about our Democratic friends who object to some acts of the party, yet rush into the arms of the Republican party, with its recent record of assassination and contemplated slaughter of enough Democratic members in the Kentucky Legislature to give the party of Taylor, Finley, Powers, etc., a majority in their struggle for civil liberty by the Winchester rifle route.

We do not wish to be understood as approving all things done by the Democratic party during the recent past. (We hoped that some things would be different), yet we do not see how Democrats can better their condition by affiliating with the Republicans.

Let us trust that out of all this strife, turmoil, blood shed, disgrace and forgetfulness of God, there may come to all the people of our State a higher ideal of manhood and statesmanship, a regard for the rights, opinions, property and lives of our fellow men.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JULY 25.
The hotels of the town were crowded and private houses had opened to entertain delegates and visitors. The attendance from country was large, notwithstanding the heavy rains that continued during the day with slight intermissions.

At 1 o'clock the convention was called to order by District Chairman D. W. Gardner. Rev. Wm. Hatcher, of the Methodist Church, prayed.

A. W. Young was unanimously chosen temporary chairman and was escorted to the chair by Judges Kittell, Redwine and Benton. He said in substance that he would rather be Goebel than the refugee Taylor. He commended the delegates to be dispassionate, thoughtful, honest and true.

J. F. Vansant, of Wolfe, and W. H. May were elected Secretary and Assistant Secretary. A resolution was then adopted that each of the seven candidates appoint one member on each of the Committees - Resolutions, Credentials and Nominations.

The names of the 7 candidates are:
D. G. Gardner, of Magoffin; Amos Davis, of Morgan; J. M. Robertson, of Pike; F. A. Hopkins, of Floyd; J. B. White, of Letcher; Sanford Bailey, of Elliott; Geo. Calmes, of Lee.
F. G. Stuart then offered a resolution that each session be opened with prayer, that all newspaper representatives be admitted to seats in the convention and that all resolutions be referred to Committees on Resolutions without debate. Carried.

COMMITTEE ON RESOLUTIONS.

COMMITTEE ON CREDENTIALS.

ORGANIZATION.

J. H. Gardner, G. W. Goad, Jas. Hatcher, W. S. Harkins, R. Riddell, G. W. Keese, J. K. Roberts.

The convention then adjourned for dinner.
As Committees were not ready to report the convention then adjourned till 2:30.
On reassembling the committee were still not ready.

Speeches were made by T. Y. Fitzpatrick and A. B. Stephens, of Ashland we met a Democratic (?) preacher of the Christian Church who expects to vote for Mr. Yerkes, he met one who will vote for Mr. Beckham.

The horrors of hell with the shrieks of the demons awaited the slayers of Goebel. There were more pacific remarks and earnest appeals to Democrats.

At 3:07 the committee on Credentials reported that all credentials presented were approved.

Committee on Organization reported:

C. B. Hill, of Clarke, Per. Chairman; J. F. Vansant and W. H. May, Secretaries; B. W. Trimble, editor of Mt. Sterling Advocate and D. J. Chandler, editor of Caney Valley Courier, Assistant Secretaries. Chairman Hill was then escorted to the Chair. In an earnest speech he assured the convention that if a pardon was granted to the slayers of Gov. Goebel, the Secretary of State would not sign the pardon.

The Committee on Resolutions then reported as follows:

Resolved, by the Democrats of the 10th Congressional District:

1. That we ratify and endorse the action of the Dem. National Convention, both in the adoption of a declaration of principles which all real Americans can consistently support and in the selection to represent those principles of two Ideal Americans, citizens in whose public and private lives there is absolutely no flaw.

2. That we ratify and endorse the action of the Democratic State Convention, both in its declaration of principles which were the line clearly between government by law and order and in strict accord with constitutional rights and methods on the one side and by mob violence and assassination on the other side, and in the selection of a splendid type of true Kentucky Citizenship to lead the Democratic hosts in the political struggle upon which we are now entering and we pledge the unwavering adherence of the Democrats of this district to the preservation of law and order and the maintenance of all constitutional rights.

3. That we declare that the material interests of this State demand that its waterways be intelligently and substantially improved and we pledge to the people of this district that the nominee of this convention when elected will devote an earnest and intelligent effort to securing such improvements for the waterways of this district.

4. That upon the 20th ballot being taken the name of the candidate receiving the lowest number of votes on each ballot shall be dropped and as the balloting proceeds the name of the candidate receiving the lowest number of votes on each ballot shall be dropped until some candidate receives a majority of all the votes in the convention. The name of a candidate once dropped shall not again be placed before the convention.

5. That copies of these resolutions be furnished by the Secretary of this convention for the Courier.

Journal and to all Democratic newspapers of this district.
(Signed by the Committee.)

Before the convention assembled there was talk of planning for a "Jack Horse" in the person of Alex Hargis, of Jackson, but the horse did not materialize. On the 11th ballot he entered with 5 votes. On the 12th he received 2, on the 13th 6, on the 14th 9.

The hour of 5:30 had arrived and the convention adjourned to meet at 8 o'clock. Will say that on 13th ballot 4 votes were cast for Jno. Vansant, of Elliott, and on

14th 10 votes for Jno. C. Mayo, of Johnson. (Supper.)

NIGHT SESSION.

Prayer was offered by Rev. W. A. Goodpastor, of the Methodist Church. Balloting was resumed on the 15th ballot. During recess the friends of Mr. Hargis evidently saw that their hopes were in vain and he dropped back into the ranks of the "great common people."

As the 20th drew near there was an increase of interest and some men were slow to understand the resolution about dropping the hind-most man.

THE 19TH BALLOT TOOK.

Gardner	10
Robertson	10
White	10
White	10
Hopkins	10

Before the 20th ballot Gardner withdrew from the race and the vote of Magoffin was divided among the six remaining candidates. After the 20th Calmes was dropped; on the 21st Robertson was dropped. During the 22nd Pike county withdrew for consultation. When Pike withdrew the vote stood:

Hopkins	10
White	10
White	10
Hopkins	10
White	10
White	10

Pike added eight to Hopkins and two to Bailey. Here confusion about the four votes of Magoffin followed. It stood as cast, hence Davis was dropped. Nearly one hour was consumed. At 9:15 the 23d ballot began and closed in thirty minutes, the vote standing:

Hopkins	30
White	30
White	30
Hopkins	30
White	30
White	30

Here a motion was made to adjourn until 8 o'clock next morning. On call of counties the motion was lost—ayes 28; nos 59 and the 24th ballot began, the contest being between Hopkins and White. There was a lively time for a while after which the Hon. F. A. Hopkins mounted a chair and, contrary to the wishes of his leaders withdrew from the race and moved that the nomination of Hon. J. B. White be unanimous. We were informed that at one time the difference between the candidates was less than one vote. The nominee was then presented to the convention.

Each one of the candidates responded to the call for speeches. At 11:30 the convention adjourned.

Now for the campaign which must be a victory for Democracy.

[Notes at Ashland and Paintsville will appear in next issue.]

A Character Sketch of Adlai E. Stevenson, His Wife and Daughters.

The gentle virtues—so constantly illustrated in all the relations of his private life—the unaffected kindness of disposition, the purity of thought, the guileless candor, the fealty to truth, the harmless mirth, the forgetfulness of self, the tender regard for the rights and feelings of others and the genuine sympathy with all around him, which make him the prince of companions and the paragon of friends, which clothe his presence with perpetual sunshine.

the conclusion of Mr. Cleveland's first term of office, Mr. Stevenson was the unanimous choice of the Democratic national convention of 1892 for vice president, being nominated and elected on the ticket with Mr. Cleveland, serving the full tenure of the office.

people as with a company of the most distinguished statesmen or in a circle of the highest literary culture. One of the most notable features of Mr. Stevenson's private life is the constancy of his moral courage. A professed believer in the sublime truth of a Christian religion, he never by word or deed affords grounds for even a suspicion of the shirking of his faith. An intimate friend says of him: "Throughout an intercourse of exceptional intimacy, running through nearly 20 years, I have never known him to utter under any circumstances, a single syllable savoring of profanity, irreverence or impurity."

Endowed with a kindly and joyous nature, there is with Mr. Stevenson a perennial flow of innocent wit and tender humor which impart to his conversation a zest quite impossible to describe and make him one of the most companionable of men. This is the way the men and women who meet and associate with Adlai E. Stevenson look upon the private life and personal character of the man whom the Democrats of the nation have chosen as their candidate for vice president.

The home life of the Stevenson family is truly American and quite ideal. They live in a handsome and well-kept though not particularly imposing residence in Bloomington. It is a two-story brick house, well-kept and comfortable, having with stately grace, as if they felt the honor conferred from time to time upon the master of the mansion by his fellow men. The mistress of the mansion, Mrs. Letitia Green Stevenson, a quiet, dignified lady, refined and attractive. She is a leader in the society, the city where she resides, and is prominent in its literary, educational and philanthropic activities. Mrs. Stevenson is president of the Women's club of Bloomington. During the times when Washington has been the official residence of Mr. Stevenson his association with her has been prominent in the social life of the national capital. They lived unostentatiously and with democratic simplicity, having apartments at one of the best of the city, where in a quiet but most enjoyable way they entertained their friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson have a son and three daughters, one of the latter being the wife of Rev. Martin D. Hardin, a son of Dr. George W. Hardin of Kentucky. The Stevenson girls were educated at Wellesley and are young women of culture and accomplishments and alike popular in the society of their Illinois home and at the national capital. They are of typical American girls. It has been for many years the custom of Mr. Stevenson to read aloud to the family from favorite books, so that the children have grown up in an atmosphere of good books and are familiar with the standard works, both in poetry and prose. Mrs. Stevenson is the daughter shine and fill his household with domestic affection and happiness."

This was the estimate of the private character of Adlai E. Stevenson held by J. Proctor Knott, who had known him intimately for many years. As both were natives of Kentucky, there may have possibly been some elements of partiality as the result of state pride, always strong in the Blue Grass country, in this opinion of the character of the Democratic nominee for vice president, but those who have known Mr. Stevenson personally will generally recognize it as just and true.

Regarding Mr. Stevenson's public services there is, of course, as divergent opinions as there are differences of political bent and affiliation, but with reference to his personal character and qualities, to which this sketch mainly relates, there will be little dissent from the statement that he is a high type of the American gentleman. Those close to him socially insist that the eulogy pronounced upon Mr. Thompson is more fairly applied to his personality:

"I do not know if there be anywhere to be found a more learned or better bred man. He is so civil to all men and yet so particularly kind to his friends and is so full of candor and affection that there is not perhaps above one or two to be found anywhere that is in all respects so perfect a friend as he is. He is extraordinarily modest, there is no artifice in him, and yet no man has more of a prudent simplicity than he has."

The attainments of Mr. Stevenson as a lawyer, his ability as a statesman and those varied talents, exemplified in his public activities, which have given him distinction among the prominent men of the country are known and recognized by those who follow the current history of our times. Mr. Stevenson is a native of Kentucky, having been born in the Blue Grass State on Oct. 23, 1835. He early removed to Bloomington, Ill., where he lived from 1854 to 1856, but was defeated in 1876, but was defeated in 1878 he was again nominated and elected. Again he was a candidate for congress in 1882, but was this time defeated. He was a delegate to the Democratic national convention in 1884 and assisted in the nomination of Grover Cleveland as president, who after his election and inauguration made Mr. Stevenson first assistant postmaster general, a position which he held until dignified presiding officer, being thoroughly versed in the rules of parliamentary proceedings, coupled with that civility of manner and courteous bearing, together with a firmness of decision, which command both respect and admiration. Those who have only a superficial knowledge of the man sometimes regarded him as overbearing and somewhat too dignified and self-contained, but nothing could be further from a true estimate of his personal character. Properly conscious of being well born and well bred and not unduly of his own success in life, he does not estimate merit by the accident of birth or the advantages of wealth or position. With him "rank is but the guinea's stamp; the man's the gold for 'at' that. He is a man as much at home and equally as entertaining in a crowd of uneducated of Professor W. E. Green, who was formerly president of Center college, at Danville, Ky. In her younger days, as now, there was not whose companionship was more dearly prized in Kentucky society. It was while a student at Center college that Mr. Stevenson met, courted and won the charming young woman who has been truly a helpmeet in his distinguished career.
